

Instructions regarding compulsory measuring of breeds at Championship Shows organized by the Swedish Kennel Club and associated clubs

The measuring of the height at withers should be undertaken with the dog standing on flat and firm ground.

The measuring should be done at the highest point of the shoulder blades (top of shoulder).

The result of the measuring will be noted by the ring steward, both on the dog's individual critique sheet and the list of results.

For Dachshunds the measuring of chest circumference should be done around the deepest part of chest.

For Poodles (Caniche), Dachshunds, Xoloitzcuintle (Mexican Hairless Dog) and Perro sin pelo del Perú (Peruvian Hairless Dog) and Deutscher Spitz/Kleinspitz & Mittelspitz (German Spitz/Medium size Spitz & Miniature Spitz) the procedure should be undertaken before the start of the judging. Only dogs which have not been “finally measured” should be measured.

A dog should always be judged together with the breed variety corresponding with the result of the measuring even if it has been entered in a class for another variety. The result of the measuring will be noted by the ring steward, both on the dog's individual critique sheet and the list of results; for Dachshunds the result should be accounted in centimetres (of chest circumference), for Poodles only the breed variety (medium size, miniature or toy) is noted. The size limits for each variety – regarding height at withers and chest circumference – are stated in the FCI breed standard.

For the other breeds listed below the measurement result should be noted in centimetres in the dog's individual critique and the list of results, by the ring steward.

Foreign judges should be provided with measuring rod and tape-measure by the organising club.

When measuring height at withers, the following principles should be followed:

1. A dog which height is measured to less than 1 cm above the maximum height according to the valid FCI breed standard must not be recorded in the critique as exceeding the maximum height. E.g.: if the maximum height is 60 cm and the dog is measured by the judge to 60.9 cm the height at withers should be noted as 60 cm.
2. A dog which height is measured to less than 1 cm under the minimum height according to the valid FCI breed standard must not be recorded in the critique as being below the minimum height. E.g.: if the minimum height is 50 cm and the dog is measured by the judge to 49.1 cm the height at withers should be noted as 50 cm.
